Massage can be a natural tranquilliser. It has been used in virtually every culture throughout history to relieve aches and pains, unknot tense muscles, and help the body-- and the mind-- to relax. There are several types of the massage, but the most popular are Oriental massage and Swedish massage. The chief difference between them is that some of the strokes in Swedish massage are designed to stimulate a rather than to relax the body.

It is unfortunate that many people who might benefit from massage never try it, dismissing it as a specialised treatment for athletes or disabled people or as an unjustifiable indulgence. If you think this way, you are missing out on something enjoyable. Any one can learn to give massage. It is a simple extension of warm human care and touch.

Professional masseurs and masseuses offer the benefit of both skill and experience. They should be trained in anatomy and physiology so that they can identify muscles that are in spasm or painful knots that have built up by misuse of the body. Experienced professionals generally understand the requirements of various body types and are able to choose strokes that the beneficial for the individual. During a typical one-hour session the routine builds subtly in intensity and then subsides.

1. Besides relieving pain, massage also (a) _____.
2. While the oriental massage focuses on (b) _____, some aspects of the Swedish massage are meant for (c) _____.
3. Many people associate massage with pleasure, thinking that it is useful only for (d) _____.
4. To identify painful muscles and knots, masseurs should have knowledge in (e) _____.

SPACE

"It scares me," said Jack Hills, an astronomer at New Mexico's Los Alamos National Laboratory. "It really does." He and the rest of the world had good reason to be worried. Astronomer Brian Marsden, at the Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics had just announced that a newly discovered asteroid 1.6 km wide was headed for Earth and might pass as close as 48,000km in the year 2028. "The chance of an actual collision is small," Marsden reported, "but not entirely out of the question."

An actual collision? With an asteroid of that size? It sounded like the stuff of science fiction and grade-B movies. But front-page stories and TV newscasts around the world soon made clear that the possibility of a direct hit and a global catastrophe well within the lifetime of most people on Earth today was all too real.

Then suddenly, the danger was gone. Barely a day later, new data and new calculations showed that the asteroid, dubbed 1997 XF11, presented no threat at all. It would miss Earth by 1 million Km - closer than any previously observed asteroid of that size but a comfortable distance. Still, the incident focused attention once and for all on the largely ignored danger that asteroids and comets pose to life on Earth.

XF11 was discovered last Dec. 6 by astronomer Jim Scotti, a member of the University of Arizona's Spacewatch group, which scans the skies for undiscovered comets and asteroids. Using a 77-year-old telescope equipped with an electronic camera, he had recorded three sets of images. The digitized images, fed into a computer programmed to look for objects moving against the background of fixed stars, revealed an asteroid that Scotti, in an e-mail to Marsden, described as standing out "like a sore thumb."

1. The world had reasons to worry because.....
 - a. it could come to an end
 - b. it would be hit by an asteroid
 - c. it might be hit by an asteroid
 - d. the astronomers had predicated a definite collision

2. The news that soon came as a relief was that.....
 - a. there was no asteroid
 - b. the asteroid would disintegrate in space
 - c. it would cross the earth at a safe distance
 - d. it would be too small to cause harm

3. The asteroid XF11 was discovered when.....
 - a. Jim Scotti observed the sky
 - b. Scotti saw it through a telescope
 - c. Marsden discovered it through the computer
 - d. Jack Hills observed the sky

4. The astronomer, described the asteroid as standing out "like a sore thumb" because.....
- a. it was not a pleasant sight
 - b. it was noticeable in an unpleasant way
 - c. it was threatening and ugly
 - d. it had become huge as it neared the earth
5. The word in the second paragraph that means disaster is.....
- a. collision
 - b. dubbed
 - c. catastrophe
 - d. danger

Coded Messages

Arabic mathematicians made tremendous contributions to cryptanalysis — the science of decoding scrambled messages. Their interest stemmed partially from their religion.

The holy Koran contains revelations made by the Prophet Mohammed. The text contained dictated messages that the Prophet had received from the archangel Gabriel. However, these revelations were not necessarily placed in the order in which the Prophet had received them. To deduce the order of the revelations and place them in chronological context, Muslim scholars determined that some passages contained words coined more recently, and some contained words that were older.

Then, they counted the frequencies of words in each revelation, paying attention to the frequencies of modern and ancient words. Passages which contained a greater frequency of modern words were considered to have been written later.

In the ninth century, an Arab mathematician called Al-Kindi employed a similar technique to break encrypted messages — frequency analysis. Letters are ranked according to how commonly they occur. Then, the encrypted message is taken, and the most frequent letter appearing in the code is noted. The code is then compared to the language, and using the correspondence in rank, the encrypted message can be unscrambled. He described this in a book — A manuscript on deciphering cryptographic messages.

1. The art of deciphering scrambled messages has its roots in.....
- a. cryptanalysis
 - b. Arabic language
 - c. religion
 - d. Mathematics

2. The Holy Koran documents the messages of
 - a. The Prophet Mohammed
 - b. Archangel Gabriel
 - c. Arabic hymns
 - d. Muslim Scholars

3. Placing the text of Koran in a sequential order was done.....
 - a. by determining the chronological order of events
 - b. with the help of Arabic mathematicians
 - c. by using the frequency of modern and ancient words
 - d. by breaking the cryptic code contained in the messages

4. Al-Kindi's contribution has been acknowledged in the field of.....
 - a. encrypting messages
 - b. cryptanalysis
 - c. language analysis
 - d. preparing a manuscript

5. The word in the last paragraph that means 'coding of a clear text' is.....
 - a. deciphering
 - b. encrypted
 - c. revelation
 - d. scrambled

Wind
Subramania Bharati

Wind, come softly.
Don't break the shutters of the windows.
Don't scatter the papers.
Don't throw down the books on the shelf.
There, look what you did — you threw them all down.
You tore the pages of the books.
You brought rain again.

You're very clever at poking fun at weaklings.
Frail crumbling houses, crumbling doors, crumbling rafters,
crumbling wood, crumbling bodies, crumbling lives,
crumbling hearts –
the wind god winnows and crushes them all.

He won't do what you tell him.
So, come, let's build strong homes,
Let's join the doors firmly.
Practise to firm the body.
Make the heart steadfast.
Do this, and the wind will be friends with us.
The wind blows out weak fires.
He makes strong fires roar and flourish.
His friendship is good.
We praise him every day.
Wind, come softly.

Given below is the summary of the poem. Fill in the blanks with suitable words to complete the summary. Use only one word for each blank.

The poet begins by a) _____ to the wind to blow softly and not cause havoc by breaking window shutters, scattering paper or throwing books on the shelf. The poet b) _____ against the wind since it has torn the pages of the books and has brought rain again. The poet feels that the wind is extremely clever as it c) _____ fun of those who are weak. It does not like anything weak. Everything that d) _____ easily be it houses, doors, wood or rafters, is e) _____ mercilessly by wind. Besides, it also crushes weak bodies, lives and hearts. The poet f) _____ wind to a God who doesn't do what people tell him to. The poet offers a g) _____ to help humanity. He appeals to people to be firm, positive and strong both physically as well as mentally. They must have a h) _____ heart if they want to be friends with wind. If we are strong then wind will not only i) _____ us but also aid us in achieving success and in flourishing. It is j) _____ to be friends with wind.

TRAVELLING THE INDIAN WAY

Pankaj Dovall TNN

Over the years, the Pope has been driven around in quite a few different vehicles, which most people refer to as the 'Popemobile.' The last time the Pope visited the United States, for instance, his ride was a modified Mercedes-Benz M Class SUV which had been specially modified to accommodate his needs. In fact, Mercedes-Benz has a long history of creating vehicles specially for the Pope, and now Piaggio has joined in as well. Piaggio's contribution, though, features just three wheels and is made from the rickshaw platform which is popular in India, where the vehicle was created.

The autorickshaw is now all set for a papal touch. Two made-in-Maharashtra three-wheelers desi versions of the 'Popemobile', the specially-designed automobile used by the Pope at public appearances, is to whirr across the Vatican. The three-wheelers have been presented to the Pope by Italian automaker Piaggio which manufactures them at its Baramati plant. The Piaggio Ape Calessino vehicles, that carry special insignia of the Vatican city and are white in colour in line with papal requirements, were presented to Pope Benedict XVI at the Vatican last week, marking one of the most visible Indian connections to the spiritual leader.

"These vehicles were given a complete look and feel of a Popemobile by putting a white coloured hood, white tyres, seat upholstery, and white body paint. The insignia on the doors is specially handcrafted. The entire vehicle was given a complete unique decor to suit the aura of His Holiness," Ravi Chopra, CMD of Piaggio's Indian subsidiary, told TOI.

Chopra said the Pope gave the delegation an audience where they apprised him of the vehicles and where they were manufactured. "He enquired about India and expressed a desire to visit the country," Chopra said. But would the Holy father actually get to use the vehicles and why would he prefer a three-wheeler over his fleet of cars? Chopra is confident he will. "Just as a golf cart, they can be used by the Pope, may be for moving in the garden or some other purpose," he said.

Many animals are able to communicate with each other very well-but none of them can talk as we do. That is, no animals use words.

Birds cry out and make sounds that other birds understand. Smells, movements, and sounds are used for communication by animals, through which they express joy or anger or fear.

Human speech is a very complicated process, which no animal can perform. One reason is that in a very special way we use a whole series of organs to produce the sounds we want to make when we utter words. The way our vocal cords are made to vibrate, the way the throat, mouth and nasal cavities are adjusted, the way the lips, teeth, lower jaw, tongue, and palate are moved – just to make vowel and consonant sounds, is something animals can’t do. They cannot produce a whole series of words to make a sentence. And there is another, perhaps more important reason why animals can’t talk. Words are only labels for objects, actions, feelings expressions and ideas. For example, the word ‘bird’ is a label for a living, flying object. Other words describe its colour, shape, flying and singing. Still other words would be used to tell what the speaker thinks or feels about the bird or its actions.

For human beings, therefore, the use of words means the use of labels or symbols, and then organizing them in a certain way to communicate something. This requires a degree of intelligence and logical thinking that no animals have. So, they can’t talk the way people do.

1. While human beings use words to communicate, birds and animals are different since they use _____ for communication.
2. Though birds and animals cannot communicate like human beings, they are capable of _____.
3. The complicated process of human speech requires a very special way of using _____.
4. Using words for communication requires intelligence and _____.
5. Pick out a word from the third paragraph that means ‘to move from side to side very quickly and with small movements’

The death of Dr Christiaan Barnard, the famous transplant surgeon, has occurred at a time when many of his modern counterparts are facing difficulties. Many of the early problems, such as tissue rejection, have, to a great extent, now been solved, thanks to the introduction of new drugs. However, there remains a major problem. The people in need of transplant surgery far outnumber the available organs.

The shortage of organ donors has caused several doctors to call for urgent improvements to be made to the system by which organs are donated. Many countries, such as Britain, have huge waiting lists of people whose lives could be saved by being given a kidney, lung, heart, or liver transplant. Sadly, many of them die before they reach the top of those lists.

Under the present British scheme, people are asked to carry donor cards, and/or put their names on the national donor register. Thus, if they lose their lives suddenly, for example, in a traffic accident, they have given permission in advance of their deaths for their organs to be used. If they have not done so, surgeons are faced with the task of asking the distraught next-of-kin for permission to use the organs of the deceased. Of course, often the relatives are too upset even to think of such a thing until it is too late. Organ transplants have to take place quite soon after the death of the donor.

Dying and donating organs is not something most of us like to think about, and only about 14% of people have registered. Now, it has been suggested that, instead of the present register, there should be a register of people who wish to opt out of having their organs removed for transplant surgery.

Increasing the number of donors is made more difficult because it is such an emotive issue. Just recently, an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association showed that half of the families in the United States refused, when asked for permission to use the organs of their loved ones.

1. Contemporary doctors face difficulties in transplant surgery because
 - a) tissue rejection has not been solved
 - b) expert doctors like Christian Barnard are not at hand to give advice
 - c) people needing transplant outnumber donors
 - d) introduction of new drugs has led to harmful side effects.
2. Patients often meet an unfortunate end because of.....
 - a) shortage of donors
 - b) tissue mis-match
 - c) lack of good doctors
 - d) lack of funds
3. Carrying donor cards is helpful in.....
 - a) asking people to donate organs
 - b) preventing accidental deaths
 - c) locating relatives of donors

- d) locating donors quickly after death
4. Many do not want to donate organs because
- a) they are selfish
 - b) they cannot reach the hospital in time
 - c) they are ignorant
 - d) of emotional reasons
5. The word 'distraught' in the third paragraph means.....
- a) upset
 - b) angry
 - c) selfish
 - d) happy

- b) The joy was sweet because the concert in which the nightingale would sing would gain him a good amount of money. It was bitter because he was extremely jealous of the popularity that the nightingale was enjoying. He feared that his unrivalled position would be usurped. (The Frog and The Nightingale)
- c) The woman turns away in agitation because her illusion about her youth and beauty is broken. She is upset to see age catching up with her. She can't bear to look at her wrinkled face. (Mirror)
- d) The crowd doesn't understand his speech because; (Julius Caesar)

- ✓ He is matter of fact and intellectual. He appeals to the mob's sense of logic and reason
He doesn't appeal to their emotions
 - ✓ Whatever he says in his speech is disproved by Antony's passionately presented speech in favour of Julius Caesar
- e) The ancient mariner is terribly weighed down under guilt and the sin that he has committed by killing the benevolent albatross. He is restless and desperate to be relieved of this burden by telling his story to the wedding guest. It would amount to confessing his sin. (The Rime of the Ancient Mariner)

15. Use of Supernatural in The Rime of the Ancient Mariner. (any eight of the following value points) 6 Marks

- The very description of the ancient mariner and the look in his eyes, his skinny hands lend the supernatural element to the poem right at the beginning.
- There is more to his "glittering eye" than mere madness, as he is able to compel the Wedding Guest to listen to his story with the fascination of a three-year-old child. Although he is clearly human, the Ancient Mariner seems to have a touch of the otherworldly in him.
- The emergence of the Albatross from the mist, and the sailors revering it as a sign of good luck, as though it were a "Christian soul" sent by God to save them.
- The mariner is hounded by disaster and supernatural forces after killing the albatross
- Coleridge clearly tries to make the supernatural elements of the poem appear as integral parts of the natural world.
- His underlying theme is that all things that inhabit the natural world have an inherent value and beauty, and that it is necessary for humanity to recognize and respect these qualities.
- The initial descriptions of the ship and its crew are fairly realistic, but as the ancient mariner undergoes his quest for understanding and redemption, the supernatural world increasingly engulfs him.
- His world becomes nightmarish when contrasted with the realistic world that he has left behind.
- For much of the poem, the mariner is adrift in the middle of the ocean, symbolically cut off from all human companionship. The mariner kills the albatross whose spirit takes its revenge on all the mariners. They face utter drought in spite of water being everywhere. The ship is becalmed- As idle as a painted ship / Upon a painted ocean.

- Sailors' senses assaulted with huge icy forms, terrifying sounds, and bewildering echoes.
- Supernatural beings appear in the poem as symbolic or allegorical figures, representing the forces of nature, life, death, and retribution.
- The mariner confronts these figures and must ultimately appease them in order to obtain his salvation.

OR

Mark Antony's Speech

All the eight of the following Value Points.

- ✓ Mark Antony's funeral oration--manages to turn the mob against the conspirators. He uses many rhetorical tricks to persuade the people to go against the conspirators
- ✓ He dramatically enters with Caesar's body to win the sympathies of the crowd and starts out by addressing the crowd as "Friends"
- ✓ By calling Brutus noble and honourable repeatedly, he conveys a sense of sarcasm
- ✓ Rebuts Brutus' statement that Caesar was ambitious and starts turning the crowd against the conspirators. This has an effect of causing the crowd to believe Brutus is lying and maybe everything he has said may be questionable.
- ✓ Antony then teases the crowd with Caesar's will, which they beg him to read, but he refuses. Antony tells the crowd to "have patience" and expresses his feeling that he will "wrong the honourable men whose daggers have stabbed Caesar" if he is to read the will. The crowd yells out "they were traitors" and have at this time completely turned against the conspirators and are inflamed about Caesar's death.
- ✓ Next, Antony humbles himself as "no orator, as Brutus is" hinting that Brutus used trickery in his speech to deceive the crowd.
- ✓ After that Antony deals his final blow by revealing to the crowd Caesar's will, in which "To every Roman citizen he gives, to every several man seventy-five drachmas" as well as land. He thus appeals to their sense of greed. He then asks the crowd, "Here was a Caesar, when comes such another?" which questions the conspirators' ability to lead.
- ✓ The people seem to find it easier to accept Antony, an emotional and sincere speaker, than Brutus who appears arrogant and forceful.
